These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. What Army and Navy Folk Are Doing

Opening Left.

Gen. Arthur Murray, Chief of Coast Artillery, on his way home from the Philippines, made a careful study of the defensive problems involved in holding the Hawaiian Islands as a naval base. His opinion is that while the southern coast line of Oahu at the present stage of development is well fortified; the north side of the island offers an ideal opening for an offensive landing, with every change of success for a considerable body of troops. Between Kaena Point and Kahuku, a distance of sixteen miles, there is a marvelously fine shelving beach, where a landing could be made very easily.

The principal town, Waimanalo, is situated midway between Kaena Point and Kahuku, and is the terminus of the Oahu Railway, which rises gradually up through a broad, gently sloping valley leading southward a distance of twenty miles to Honolulu. At present there are no defensive works on the north coast of the island, and if there were, without the support of mobile forces, they would hardly be adequate to deal with any considerable landing force protected by a few battleships. The water running about to the north increases gradually from eight to sixteen fathoms, and then dips off suddenly to 170. There is ample anchorage for a navy of any size in ordinary weather, and if in case of war the United States should be forced to hold the island, it would take 5,000 or 6,000 men with rapid-firing guns and field artillery to make any sort of a successful defense. It is not unlikely that several mortar batteries will be placed along this coast within the coming year.

SPORTS

New Players Enter Big Tennis Events

A new factor in the fights for the national doubles tennis championship in future years has developed from the tri-state tennis tourney, which came to an end at Cincinnati on Sept. 9. Richard H. Palmer of New Jersey and Carlton R. Gardner of California had beaten R. A. Holden, Jr., and Trux Emerson for the tri-state men's doubles championship.

Palmer and Gardner had never met before this tourney. Holden and Emerson were expected to win because of their usually fine team play, which won them the championship in the western tourney at Chicago.

Palmer and Gardner have decided to make a permanent pairing for the big eastern tourneys next year in an effort to make a fight for the national doubles championship.

Fred Alexander and Harold H. Hackett of New York, who are permanently paired, have been able to win the national doubles title year after year.

Gardner is to leave the Pacific coast and study art in New York.

Local and Coast Auto Doings

Fred L. Waldron has purchased a Chalmers-Detroit car from the Associated Garage. It is a beautiful machine and is one of the best specimens of the popular cars that has reached Honolulu for a long time.

The electric runabout imported by E. H. Lewis is attracting a lot of attention, and already many inquiries have been made as to the cost of the machines and the expense of keeping them up.

For the past week the von Hamm-Young garage has been very busy, and Manager Bodge has been up to his eyes in work.

TWAS GREAT BALL.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Twenty-five thousand frenzied base-

MR. TAFT AND SOME MEMBERS OF HIS GOLF CABINET AT MYOPIA

THE PRESIDENT AND CAPTAIN BUTT

One of the main considerations which led President Taft to select Beverly, Mass., as his summer home was the number and excellence of the golf links near the town. No less than three first-class courses are within easy distance of Beverly. They are the links of the Myopia Hunt Club, declared by Harry Vardon and other leading British golfers to be equal to any in England or Scotland; the Montserrat Golf Club and the Essex County Club. The last named has been the President's favorite, but he has also been seen frequently on the others. The men who play with the President at his favorite game are sometimes called the "golf cabinet," in imitation of the naming of President Roosevelt's friends as the "tennis cabinet." Among the golfers who accompany Mr. Taft from hole to hole are his military aid and constant companion, Captain A. W. Butt; John Hays Hammond, the mining engineer who wanted to be nominated for Vice President last year; the President's brother, Charles F. Taft of Cincinnati; General Adelbert Ames of Massachusetts, W. J. Boardman of Washington, who is one of Mr. Taft's friends, and the President's cousin, Samuel Carr of Boston.

ball fans turned out to see the first game of the series between the Athletics and Hughie Jennings' champion Detroit Tigers this afternoon. Incidentally, much to the delight of the Quaker fans, Ty Cobb of Georgia fell down miserably in the role of the ever-ready hero of the bat.

The present series will practically decide which team will be the possessor of the American League pennant for the season of 1910. By virtue of its victory today by a score of 2 to 1, the Philadelphia fans are now just .022 per cent behind the Tigers in the scramble for the pennant.

On account of the intense rivalry between the two teams and the especial animosity of the Philadelphia fans toward Ty Cobb, the premier slugger of the league, over 400 policemen were on duty at the ball park to quell any budding riots. Cobb made himself obnoxious to the usually peaceful Quaker fans when he spiked third baseman Baker during the recent series on the Tigers' home grounds. No pop or other bottled drinks were sold at the park this afternoon in order to avoid any possible chances of bottle throwing at Cobb or at the umpires.

But the loyal natives had ample revenge on the terrible Ty Cobb without resorting to bottle throwing. The most ignoble fate known to base ball befell the Detroit slugger. It came in the third inning. Stanage, the Detroit backstop, led off with a single, but was forced at second on Sumner's attempted sacrifice. McIntyre hit for one base and Shortstop Bush was given a pass to the initial station. With only one out, three men on bases and Cobb at the bat, things looked dark from a Philadelphia standpoint, but Ty struck out. When Crawford, the next batter up, went out on an easy ground-out, bringing the death of the three languishing Detroiters on the bases, the crowd yelled itself hoarse.

Detroit annexed one run in the sixth inning, but never threatened after that. Philadelphia scored enough runs to win the game in the fourth inning.

George Gano outclassed a small field in the Onondaga stake for 2:08 pacers and won as he pleased in straight heats. Lady Maud C. and Hedgewood Boy made two attempts against their polo record of 2:02 1/4, but failed in both, pacing in 2:05 1/4 and 2:04 1/4.
